Notes from the Pastor

Year of the Mass "Behold the lamb of God"

Following the Breaking of the Bread and the prayers, the priest prays privately in preparation for Communion; the priest lifts up the host and the chalice and invites the members of the Assembly to take part in the Eucharistic Banquet. Both priest and faithful make an act of humility before the Body and Blood of the Lord raised before them. Their response uses words taken from the Gospel account of the Centurion who, with great humility, answers Jesus' offer to come to his house to heal his servant. It is significant that this response is made not just by the faithful, but by the priest of the one Body of Christ, that together they form one community, joined in the same Eucharistic meal.

The former translation of the invitation and response, rendered from the Latin text freely, with the result that some of the Gospel references long associated with this rite were obscured. The present translation adheres more closely to the Latin original. The invitation now also reflects more fully the transcendent and festive heavenly banquet described in the Book of Revelation and foreshadowed by our Communion with the Body and Blood of the Lord.

The priest invites us with the words:

*Behold the Lamb of God.
Behold Him to takes away the sins of the world.
Blessed are those called to the supper of the Lamb.*

The response made to the banquet invitation by all present quotes the words of the Centurion more directly. It now reads:

Lord, I am not worthy that you should enter under my roof, but only say the word and my soul shall be healed.

With these words, all present are confronted with their fundamental unworthiness to receive the Body and Blood of the Lord in Communion. But they are also a reminder of our need to trust that, no matter how great our unworthiness, the Lord can, and will heal if we only seek his forgiveness.

RECOVERY SUNDAY-SEPT. 4TH

Today the Church of New York is celebrating RECOVERY SUNDAY. We wish to affirm and pray for all those individuals and their families who are struggling with and in recovery from addictive illness. Addictive illnesses are many: among them are addictions to alcohol, drugs, relationships and gambling. May we never fail to bring these brothers and sisters to the Lord!!
